CAMO COMPASS LOOKS GREAT ON ANY BOAT, KAYAK OR ATV

Whether after smallmouth, bluefish, mallard or just the perfect day outdoors, Ritchie Navigation's TR-31 Trek compass looks great on any boat, kayak or ATV. Available in Breakup Camo and Shadow Grass finishes, it'll guide anglers, hunters and outdoorsmen to their favorite hotspot and then back home again.

Made in the USA, the compact TR-31 Trek has a rugged bracket that mounts virtually anywhere. With a 300° range, it can install on most horizontal, vertical, angled or overhead surfaces. Built-in compensators inside the compass adjust for deviation when installing on or near metal.

The Ritchie TR-31 Trek compass has a 1-1/4" black dial with large heading letters, and degree numbers and marks. For use in low-light conditions, 12V green LED lighting is integrated into the device.

Unlike some compasses that are built for automotive use, the TR-31 Trek performs no matter the conditions, whether heavy chop or a rutted offroad path. This is due to powerful DirectiveForce magnets and the dial being set on a sapphire jewel that's mounted on a hardened steel pivot. This combination keeps the dial turning smoothly without jarring and spinning.

The Ritchie Trek Bracket Mount Breakup Camo (TR-31B) and Shadow Grass Camo (TR-31S) compasses cost $69.99. They come with a five-year warranty and are 100% repairable.
