EXPLORER COMPASS IDEAL FOR FIRST-TIME BOAT OWNERS

A first boat can be an overwhelming experience with a seemingly unending number of things to remember. But a magnetic compass is different. Simple to use, the S-53 Explorer from Ritchie Navigation is the perfect navigation tool for first-time boat owners with a host of features that will soon have them plying the waters with confidence.

Made in the USA, the Ritchie Explorer surface mounts for maximum adaptability. Built-in compensators easily adjust for deviation when installed near metal. While constructed with marine composites to withstand continual direct exposure to the elements, the compass module quickly detaches from the base with a simple push-button for storage and security.

The Explorer is compact, measuring 3.6" L x 3.9" W x 2.9" H with the movable sun shade down and 3.3" with it up. It features an easy-to-read 3.75" black, blue or white dial that's set on a hardened steel pivot movement with a scientifically-matched sapphire jewel. Powerful DirectiveForce™ Magnets provide fast and smooth heading lock-on, even in choppy water. A single bright yellow directive line makes knowing the boat's direction simple. It has integrated green LED lighting for navigating in dim or dark conditions.

Available in black, gray and white, the Ritchie Navigation S-53 Explorer costs $93.94. It comes with a five-year warranty and is 100% repairable.
