SEA-FIRE SIGNS THUNDERCAT MARKETING REP GROUP

To expand its sales strategy, Sea-Fire Marine, a global leader in state-of-the-art marine fire detection and suppression solutions, has signed Thundercat Marketing as its newest sales representative group. Ernie Ellis, Sea-Fire president, made the announcement.

Since 2018, Thundercat Marketing has served both the commercial and recreational marine markets throughout California, the Pacific Northwest, British Columbia and Alaska. The agency is comprised of seasoned sales professionals with diverse backgrounds in manufacturing, wholesale and retail, with a common focus on safety-related products. Its website is www.thundercatmarketing.com.

"Thundercat Marketing is well-respected within their region for customer service, market penetration and product insight," said Ellis. "Plus, their real-world, hands-on marine safety experience gives them a competitive edge when promoting our technologically advanced equipment."

"Sea-Fire has a longstanding tradition of being the foremost leader in fire suppression within the maritime industry—an essential aspect of safe voyages and asset protection. This falls squarely into our core competency," said Jim Cermak, Thundercat Marketing managing member.

Sea-Fire Marine is committed to protecting people and property at sea. It designs and manufactures to ISO 9001:2015 standards a wide range
