SEASUCKER OFFERS HOLIDAY CHEER TO LOCAL GROUPS

SeaSucker, a Bradenton, Florida-based manufacturer of vacuum-mounted accessories and racks for boats, RVs and automobiles, lit up the streets of Sarasota at the city's recent 26th annual holiday parade. To keep the holiday magic glowing, SeaSucker is offering schools, retirement homes and charitable organizations within Manatee and Sarasota Counties individual visits with its bedazzled '66 Volkswagen Bus and '72 Volkswagen Beetle. The classic vehicles are adorned with hundreds of lights and whimsical decorations. The request form is at www.bit.ly/SeaSucker2023Holiday

"The Sarasota holiday parade brings the community together for one purpose: to have fun," said Chuck Casagrande, company owner. "And at SeaSucker, we certainly know how to do that!" From the Grinch stuck in a chimney to a life-size Rudolph, each of the numerous decorations is secured to the VWs with SeaSucker's unique vacuum mount technology.

Made in the USA, SeaSucker accessories secure a multitude of gear and equipment to any clean, non-porous surface. Its latest no-drill product is Ridge Ready Monkey Bars, crossbars whose mounts boast 990 pounds of holding power and fit vehicles with roof ridges. The innovative device won two prestigious Best New Product awards at the 2022 SEMA (Specialty Equipment Market Association) show.
