SEASUCKER CHRISTMAS BUS RETURNS TO SPREAD HOLIDAY CHEER

SeaSucker's distinctive yellow and blue '66 Volkswagen Bus and '72 Volkswagen Beetle have been transformed once again into the beloved Christmas Bus and Bug seen around the Florida Gulf Coast for the last six years. The two vehicles are decorated for the season by SeaSucker founder Chuck Casagrande in the hopes of creating magical holiday memories for children and adults alike.

The Christmas Bus and Bug's most anticipated appearance this year is at the 27th Annual Sarasota Holiday Parade. In keeping with the event's parade theme of Happy Holidays Around the World, the Bus sports a 10-foot inflatable Earth globe on its roof.

In addition to the globe, the Christmas Bus and Bug have hundreds of festive holiday decorations, all attached with SeaSucker's innovative vacuum-mount technology. Famous for transporting bicycles on Tour de France team cars and 160+ mph supercars, the innovative devices have transformed how owners use their RVs and overland campers. They install temporarily, hold up to 220 lbs. for days and remove without leaving a mark.

The Christmas Bus features an authentic caribou head mounted up front, a fully functional train set on top and a full manger scene inside. The Christmas Beetle has a slot car track where children can choose from a variety of cars to race.

SeaSucker wants people to spread the Bus and Bug's holiday message on social media and will be giving away t-shirts each day for the best tagged post. While the vehicles have already booked appearances at parades, schools and parties, additional opportunities for a free visit are available. Email christmasbus@seasucker.com for reservations.
